

Barry & Marrion

'We started with this organisation with their former financial advisor, Peter Meggitt, in 1987.

We continue to do business with Paul Gorman at Hillross because we know and have experienced his honesty and integrity in ensuring we are able to receive the best growth of our savings in both terms of allocated pensions and superannuation.

His efficiency to contact us to change our investments is of utmost importance to us.

Paul Gorman and his associates have always been helpful in whatever matter we have raised, spending any necessary time it takes explaining things ensuring our complete understanding and that our money is in versatile areas of growth.

Communication is always forth coming with at least monthly emails, especially with updates of the financial situation in language that we can understand.

They undertook an intense questionnaire and survey of our needs, requirements and ideas before putting together a proposal package that suited our particular outlook.

They are always prepared to ensure that we have a full understanding of their proposals, management and operations with regard to our investments.

We are satisfied with the growth achieved under our desired types of investments, and have complete confidence in following his advice.'
